

Proposed New Ordinance May Cost Homeowners Millions

Would Require Cast Iron Pipe on Sewers

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has instructed the County Council to draw up an ordinance which will vitally affect the pocketbook of every home owner in the county outside of the incorporated cities.

This proposed ordinance provides that only cast iron soil pipe may be used in the construction of sewer laterals.

In Lemon Grove this will affect all new connections in the impending sewer annexation districts, as well as future connections made in the existing Sanitation Districts.

At the present time either cast iron or vitrified tile is permissible under the existing ordinance.

Property owners should immediately file protests with the Board of Supervisors in an effort to prevent the enactment of this ordinance.

This ordinance may be brought before the Board Monday, December 4, and here is how it will affect the homeowner:

1—Cost of cast iron pipe at present is at least four times that of vitrified tile.

2—Only a plumber or a home owner who has passed a plumber's examination will be allowed to install the cast iron pipe.

3—Cast iron is a critical material, and no one knows how long it may be available at any price.

4—Inability to purchase cast iron pipe would nullify the present sewer projects now going in throughout the county.

5—Increased cost of installation, even with material available, would in many cases prohibit the property owner making his connections.

6—This ordinance would mean added costs that might amount to millions of dollars throughout San Diego County for property owners.

The county authorizes contractors to use vitrified tile in the construction of sewers, and tile is used from the sewer line to the property line, so it would appear to be ridiculous to require the use of cast steel on the owners' properties, to connect with the tile at the lot line.

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce tomorrow (Friday) evening, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the proposed ordinance and formulating some sort of action in protest to the Board of Supervisors.

The public is welcome to attend this special meeting. No formal public notice of an ordinance by the Board of Supervisors is required, hence the public only learns of these things through the press and its local Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed ordinance is without a discriminatory legislation and favors nobody except the plumbers.

Get in our protest now.

Hi, Neighbor

by Mae Rex Graham

I hope all of my good Hi Neighbors will join me in a personal welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Lane of Lane's Men's Wear to Lemon Grove.

They have been working day and night to be ready for their Grand Opening on Saturday so why not gang up on them and show them what Lemon Grove hospitality and co-operation is like.

The coming to town of a brand new Men's Store is an event to celebrate. This is the first exclusive Men's Store we have had in Lemon Grove should be congratulated that out of all Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. Lane chose this spot in which to invest their savings.

That shows that they believe in the people here and have confidence in the future of Lemon Grove.

We need many other kinds of businesses here and your patronage to this and other local stores is going to determine how soon other business people will want to invest here.

There isn't a store in Lemon Grove that can't match prices with stores of any community in San Diego County.

Save your gas, save your parking fees, save time, save money by trading at home—in Lemon Grove, the fastest growing community in the Southland.

P.S. Lane's Men's Wear is in the new Sonka Building, next to the Bank.

Cafeteria Opening Celebrated with Turkey Dinner

A Thanksgiving dinner marked the formal opening of the new cafeteria at Grossmont Union High School last Monday. The menu included turkey, dressing, cranberries, waldorf salad, pumpkin pie, and milk for 30c.

It was estimated that approximately 1,300 lunches were served. Mrs. Rose Barnett, manager of the modern, well equipped cafeteria has been at Grossmont for 25 years. There were 25 students enrolled when she started. There are now 2,750 students attending Grossmont. With double lunch sessions, 1,500 students may be served each day.

The cafeteria is self-supporting although run on the government subsidy plan. All cafeteria expenses are paid through the daily 30c per person lunches. The government subsidy plan provides for a reduced rate of butter, potatoes, dried eggs, milk, cheese, canned cherries, apricots, and peaches.

Name Heads for TB Stamp Drive

Chairmen who will direct the 1950 Christmas Seal Sale for the San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association in the Eastern county communities will meet Monday to map plans for the drive according to Mrs. Vernon Clapp, of La Mesa.

Five communities are represented on Mrs. Clapp's committee. The chairmen will meet for tea, will discuss the campaign and will obtain material to be used during the drive. The community chairmen are: El Cajon, Mrs. Schuyler Hawes and Mrs. Andrew Monteverde; Lakeside, Mrs. V. K. Polk; Lemon Grove, Mrs. Roy H. Miller; Spring Valley, Mrs. Lloyd Williams, and Encanto, Mrs. H. L. Blancher.

"Our goal," Mrs. Clapp said, "is to have Christmas seals on every piece of mail—letters, postcards and packages—mailed from this area during the holidays. The Christmas seals carry a bright message of health to everyone who sees them and, more important, they support a broad program of case finding, research, education and rehabilitation against tuberculosis, which annually kills nearly 50,000 Americans."

Public Could Get Action on Hoover Report

At the dinner meeting of the County Development Federation at National City on Tuesday evening, Walter Underwood, national affairs advisor for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, urged public participation in putting Hoover report recommendations into effect.

He said the easier half of the proposals made by former President Hoover to cut costs of government had been accomplished but that it would take "true courage for senators and representatives to enact the rest of the report into law."

Underwood said that before the Korean invasion, the federal government was spending 14 1/2 million dollars a day more than it was taking in.

He held up as an ideal of "statesmanship at home" the action of one American community that released its representative in Congress from pressing for any local benefit not in keeping with the national welfare and national defense.

Attending from Lemon Grove were Ted Haaf, president of the Federation, Mrs. Haaf, and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Schnell.

New Beauty Shop Opens December 1

Eleanor Metcalf and Vada Dawson, well known in Lemon Grove as expert beauty operators, are opening the Redwood Beauty Salon at 3121 Fifty-fourth St. on Friday, December 1.

They have installed the most modern equipment and furnishings that will add to the comfort of their patrons.

The salon is located in the new Drinnstedt Shopping Center on 5th street, midway between University and Federal, a short way north of the Rancho Theatre. Read their ad. on page — for further information.

Noted Evangelist at Baptist Revival

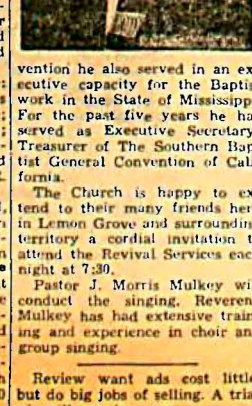

Dr. A. F. Crittendon, Executive Secretary of Southern Baptist work in California, will be with the First Baptist Church here in Lemon Grove for one week as their guest evangelist starting Sunday.

Dr. Crittendon is a well known figure throughout the Southern Baptist Convention, which has more than six million constituents. Dr. Crittendon has a background of varied and colorful interest in the ministry. Besides serving as pastor of some of the outstanding churches in the convention he also served in an executive capacity for the Baptist work in the State of Mississippi. For the past five years he has served as Executive Secretary-Treasurer of The Southern Baptist General Convention of California.

The Church is happy to extend to their many friends here in Lemon Grove and surrounding territory a cordial invitation to attend the Revival Services each night at 7:30.

Pastor J. Morris Mulkey will conduct the singing. Reverend Mulkey has had extensive training and experience in choir and group singing.

Local Teacher to be Married

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen Springer of Mt. Helix announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Edythe Springer to William S. Van Dusen, Jr., son of Mrs. Van Dusen and the late Major Wm. Van Dusen of La Mesa. Both are graduates of Grossmont High.

Miss Springer was graduated from State College in June and is a first grade teacher in Lemon Grove School.

Mr. Van Dusen was graduated from San Diego Junior College and studied at Chicago and Williams College, Chicago.

New Streets Get Delivery

F. R. Faucher, postmaster, reports that five new streets have been added to daily delivery service including Alford and Daryl Streets with delivery to the house, Crane, Edgerton and Dennis Lane will have curb service, effective Monday providing the proper mail receptacles are installed.

Patrons having house service must have sidewalks from house to street.

Philharmonic Offers Varied Entertainment as Well as Aid to Ambitious Young Musicians

By Beatrice Garber
So much has been said of the San Diego Philharmonic Orchestra which will give its first concert next Tuesday, November 28, at the Russ Auditorium, but the inside story of its growth and its intended programs have been barely touched upon.

Scores of San Diego people, members of the orchestra, the society and those far sighted enough to see just what the birth and development of such an organization means to a community, have worked tirelessly for weeks to acquaint all the people with all the facts.

They have met enthusiastic supporters. Likewise they have met selfish narrowminded oppositionists. Great numbers are watching with interest from a back seat to see how things are going, little realizing that now is the time to give their support to the new Philharmonic Orchestra, not after it is established.

Oh, it will succeed. Anything that has for its goal, a program so rich in content, so far reaching and so willingly and enthusiastically presented will succeed.

Urge Merchants to Decorate for Holiday Season

The Business Women's League enjoyed a delicious luncheon last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Sunbury in Blossom Valley.

Among the 25 present were new members, Mrs. Ralph Long and Mrs. Addison Black; also guests, Mrs. Luther Humey, Robert Smith, Isaac Cass, Anna Bettinson and C. S. Dail. Other new members are Mrs. Sterling Cato and Mrs. Robert Gaudin.

At the suggestion of the Community Center Control Board, a letter is being sent to Claude Hupp, County Control Chairman for the building, explaining the need for more custodial service in the Community Center Building and asking if something may be done about it.

The Community Chest Committee reported a total of $540.50 has been received from the business people so far in the Chest Campaign. There are still several contacts to be made.

$25 is being contributed to the Community Christmas Fund. Also, the Business Women are encouraging all business establishments to be made especially attractive during the holiday season. Neat, well lighted, decorated business houses will attract many visitors and make local people proud of our community.

The League is urged to support the San Diego Philharmonic Orchestra by its attendance at the concerts and by encouraging others to attend.

A Christmas card party for members and business friends will be held at the H. A. Anderson's home December 16, 8296 Golden. A charge of 25c each will be collected for Christmas welfare. There will be prizes and refreshments. Each guest is asked to bring an inexpensive gift.

Red Feather Football Game

San Diego's first "Red Feather Bowl" game will be played this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Balboa Stadium. Competing teams for the Eleventh Naval District Championship are the undefeated Marine Corps Recruit Depot and the Naval Air Forces Pacific Fleet. This latter team has lost only one game this season.

Admission to the Red Feather Bowl will be free, although persons attending will be permitted to make a donation to the Community Chest. One lucky program holder will come away from the game in possession of a football autographed by Rear Adm. Wilder D. Baker, USN, Vice-Adm. Thomas L. Sprague, USN, Major Gen. Wm. T. Clement, USMC, and Don Keller, A. vivid half-time program featuring the community chest will be presented.

Chamber Seeks Improvements

The attention of E. R. Offenbacher, San Diego County Traffic Engineer has been called to the following suggestion offered at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce:

1—A traffic hazard has been created by double parking in the area from Haizlip's Pharmacy to Piggly Wiggly. It was suggested that a curb be installed and "in" and "out" parking be enforced.

2—Reflectors should be installed at the intersection of Buena Vista, North Avenue and Waite Drive.

3—Reflectors should be installed on south side of Broadway at College Avenue.

4—A stop sign is suggested at Bonita and Mt. Vernon, on Bonita.

5—Many residents and chamber members have requested a large light at Imperial, San Miguel, Cypress and Palm intersection.

6—A light is requested in the center of Lemon Grove, Broadway at Imperial and Main.

Y's Men Will Give Free Trees

As a community service, the Lemon Grove Y's Men's Club is offering a free eight-foot Christmas tree to each church and each P.T.A. in the Lemon Grove school district. Reservations for these trees should be made by calling H 6-8758 any week-day morning from 9:00 to 12:00. In addition to this the Y's Men have offered the Business Women's League trees at wholesale price for the decoration of the town-area.

All profits derived from the sale of Y's Men's trees will go directly into the development of the Y's Men's playground area. This playground may be used free of charge by any organization of the community merely by calling H 6-8758 and reserving the date.

Robert Galland Wants Visitors

Robert Galland, 2155 Ensena, who has been in the Naval Hospital for several weeks, underwent surgery on his foot Monday.

Bob is able to have visitors now, who may call on Wednesday, Saturday or Sunday from 1 to 4.

Bob wants to thank the many friends who have sent him letters and cards. He looks forward to the mail each day. His address is now Ward 9-3.

Annual YWCA World Festival

The YWCA will stage its third annual World Festival Friday and Saturday, December 1 and 2, at the downtown Y building, 1012 C Street.

Cooperation of many foreign nationality groups makes possible an offering of unusual foreign foods served by foreign-born Americans in their native costumes. Food booths will open at 5 p.m. Programs in the gym, pool and auditorium will be presented at 7, 7:45, and 8:30 o'clock.

The swim show, "Winter Wonderland," will have a Christmas theme as will the modern dance show titled "Christmas on the Village Green."

The variety show in the auditorium Friday evening will feature Clark Allen, ballad singer, and the Hoover High School Girls Glee Club.

Saturday's show will present Martha Gene, Starlight Operetta, and the San Diego Sereadans, winning quartette in Far Western District. Chula Theater Guild will present "Three Passed By" Saturday evening.

At 9:30 the auditorium will be given over to folk and square dancing and the club rooms to ballroom dancing. Fun booths and the swim show will be of special interest to young children.

The Y will use proceeds from the events toward its goal of $900 to be used by the World Fellowship committee to carry on YWCA work in 65 foreign countries.

Fate of Schools Depends on Bond Election

When the voters of the Lemon Grove School District go to the polls on Tuesday, December 5, and cast their yes votes for children, they will make it possible for the Board of Trustees to continue with important plans for enlarging the school plants throughout the district and the construction of necessary new buildings. By September, 1951, 33 new classrooms will be needed to care for the ever-enlarging enrollment; then double sessions will be eliminated entirely, and each child will benefit from a full school day.

To fulfill this aim, the following projects are planned:

1. Lemon Grove Elementary School on Golden Avenue will add a kindergarten, five classrooms, an administration building, and a cafeteria-auditorium.

2. The Vista La Mesa Elementary School will add five new classrooms, an addition to the administration offices, and a cafeteria-auditorium.

3. The Lemon Grove Intermediate School, on Lincoln Street, will add six new classrooms, a home economics room, a shop, locker and shower rooms, a music room, administration office, and a cafeteria-auditorium.

4. The Monterey Heights will add five new classrooms, a kindergarten, and a cafeteria-auditorium.

5. The San Miguel Elementary School, a new project, will have a kindergarten, six classrooms, administration offices, and a cafeteria-auditorium.

6. A Lemon Grove School District Administration Building will be built, which will also include the business offices.

As soon as the money for this construction is on deposit, work will begin on the schools, probably around February 1, 1951. All drawings and specifications should be completed on the Lemon Grove, Vista La Mesa, and San Miguel Elementary Schools by that date, and the plans for Monterey Heights Elementary and Lemon Grove Intermediate Schools should be completed shortly afterward. Following approval of all plans by the State Division of Architecture, actual construction will start. It is hoped that they will all be available to students during the 1951-52 school year.

As soon as the $71,000 bond issue is approved by the voters and they give consent to the acceptance of the $1,344,296 from the State, our district will be able to provide adequate housing for all students.

Your school is your polling place. General election precincts 2 through 9 and 13 will vote at the Lemon Grove School. General election precincts Radio 1 and 2 will vote at the Vista La Mesa School. Precincts 10, 11, and 12 will vote at the Monterey Heights School. All polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m.

Temporarily meetings are being held at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Russell Ray, 7931 Palm Ave. Rev. Evans says the response is most gratifying and invites all interested to attend. Plans are being made for an informal evening gathering early in December.

What Grossmont High School Has to Offer to Its Students

Using the title, "What has Grossmont Union High School to offer its students?" the following survey was recently conducted by the school's News Bureau:

Grossmont's Faculty consists of 108 members, including all instructors and counselors. Of this staff 37 have Masters degrees; the remaining 71 have Bachelors degrees. Twenty of the 108 have special secondary credentials while the 88 hold California State general secondary credentials. None of these members are teaching under emergency credentials.

The average age of instructors at Grossmont is 39 years. Twenty-one of the 108 members are between the ages of 20 through 29; 40 are in the age brackets of 30 through 39; 32 are in the 40 through 49 age group; 13 between the ages of 50 and 59; and 2 are within the ages of 60 through 65.

The average teaching experience of the faculty is 16 years per teacher. Also on the average, the faculty spent seven of these years instructing at Grossmont.

There are approximately 20 various departmental courses being conducted each year. The nationally famous Blue and Gold Band consisting of 120 persons and the 80 piece orchestra comprise the Instrumental Music department. The band plays at games and competes in many contests including county, city, and State festivals. The orchestra also enters contests and participates in many school programs, among them are the Christmas Pageant and the Annual Spring Concert. Grossmont's Vocal Music department is divided into several groups: Boy's Quartet, Girl's Trio, Girl's Ensemble, Boy's Glee, Junior Glee and the Red Robed Choir.

Another department which catches the public eye is drama. For over 20 years the Christmas Pageant has been presented through this department. Also the Senior and Associated Student Body plays are annually presented; thus, student appreciation not only acting, but gain a knowledge of light, sound and stage duties.

There are various types of speech activities throughout the year. Current problems on the national level are stressed and discussed in debate. A recent title of controversy is, "Resolved that the American People Should Reject Welfare State." The Speech classes are now engaged in a short contest, one of the many projects of this department. Grossmont was the first high school in California to have joined the National Forensic League and annually this speech organization sponsors a tournament in which students from high schools throughout America participate. Among other contests are the State College, Redlands Speech and John Marshall tournaments.

The Art and Photography departments provide necessary materials for furthering student's artistic abilities with oils, clothes and crafts of various types. The outstanding dark room contains some of the most modern and expensive equipment available for photography.

Those students interested in Industrial Arts, Agriculture or Homemaking will find these departments well equipped to help develop their skills, also. The agricultural courses will be greatly aided with new and needed facilities in the proposed plant in El Cajon. With the new, modern buildings, Homemaking and Science departments have benefited greatly with more adaptable appliances. Classes in Homemaking have access to electric stoves and sewing machines.

Drivers Education was first made compulsory in San Diego County by Grossmont. This course teaches prospective drivers traffic codes, first aid, and other related subjects, besides a week of actual driving experience. One of the highlights of this course is the body of a "cut-away car" in class for study.

Among the remaining academic departments are Social Science, Mathematics, Commercial, Foreign Language, Military Science and English. Both girls and boys' sports of all types are also taught under departmental headings. The library is open to all students and faculty of Grossmont, and although it is small it contains many good books. At J. Edgar Hoover's suggestion that schools emphasize our American Heritage to fight communism, the Library Methods class made a bibliography on American Heritage books in the library as a project. This class discovered that there are 250 recommended books on this subject in the library. A list of these books was given to each American History and American Literature class for future reference.

Student Government is a major activity at Grossmont. It is a replica of the national government and has recently placed eleven out of the 26 high schools competing against 150,000 in the nation-wide contest sponsored by the Freedom Foundation. The student government won $200 worth of books on American Heritage to add to the library as a result of this contest.

Other student activities include the weekly paper, Foothill Echoes, the annual El Recuerdo and other types of publication experience. Clubs of many interests, which help the school and the student, are encouraged as an extra-curricular activity.

Grossmont's most vital problem is the question as to whether it will be able to continue offering such desirable courses and opportunities to its student body, or whether crowded conditions will hinder this procedure. There have been four new buildings constructed on the campus in the past four years. Two are classroom structures, one the girl's gym, and the last a cafeteria. Still, the classrooms average 30 to 40 pupils whereas the average school has 25 to 30 persons in each class. Also, 450 students are in study halls each period, 350 are in the gym and 110 are in music departments. Without these classes capable of handling many students, classrooms would be considerably more crowded. The present enrollment is 2,865 whereas the present capacity is 1,800.

Thirty-five additional classrooms are now needed, and this figure doesn't include the replacement and modernization of the inadequate classrooms now in use. In 1951 there will be an additional 400 students in Grossmont and if the bond issue for funds for a new Grossmont District High School does not pass on December 5, double sessions will be held in 1951.

It has been proven that learning under half-day sessions is reduced 50 per cent. Truancy and juvenile delinquency increase and transportation costs are much higher. Also, school activities such as drama, music, clubs, and athletics, as have been prevented, would be curtailed under such conditions. Therefore, it is obviously very urgent for the protection of high school students and future American citizens that this bond issue be passed to offer the students of Grossmont Union High School a further continuance of a good education.

11th Naval District Needs Mechanics

An immediate call for mechanics, urgently needed in San Diego Naval activities, has been issued by Naval authorities.

Positions in 14 different trades—shipfitter, boatbuilder, electrician, painter, radio mechanic, electronics, mechanic, inside machinist, shipwright, telephone electrician, helper shipfitter, combination welder, sandblaster and operator, and gasoline distribution system—are open.

The mechanics are needed to repair Navy ships and equipment. Persons who have had experience in any of these trades should apply for further information, at the employment office, 1608 Fourth Ave., San Diego.

Grossmont High News

A lecture on the history of San Diego Bay will be given at Grossmont Evening High School on Tuesday, December 5th at 7 p.m. in the library, by Edward J. P. Davis, Public Relations Officer for the City of San Diego Harbor Department. His lecture will cover all of the historical and geological information pertaining to San Diego and Mission Bays; also, the early history and settlement of the former. Federal Government maps will be used to identify places and conditions in the Bay at the time of its discovery, settlement, and development. An invitation is extended to all to come and hear what is known to be an interesting and informative lecture for we have recently learned that this Harbor official has given a series of lectures to nearly 6,000 people so far this year in the City and County.

A list of dance regulations for Grossmont Union High School has been drawn up by the Student Council of Grossmont. The regulations are for all dances sponsored by clubs or the A. S. B., as follows:

1. Grossmont dances are intended primarily for Grossmont students and alumni. Faculty members, P. T. A. members and other people connected with the school are always welcome. The attendance of persons not associated with the school is acceptable only on specific arrangement with the persons or sponsors of the particular dance. A Grossmont boy or girl may come with someone outside of Grossmont, the Grossmonters accepting the responsibility for the behavior of that guest.

2. Leaving the dance hall between intermissions will be permitted only at the discretion of the chaperones and is to be discouraged as much as possible.

3. The type of dress to be worn at the respective dances will be specified in the advertising. Improper attire may be cause for exclusion from dances.

4. The dance floor will be adequately lighted for a high school dance at all times.

5. There will be no smoking on the dance floor.

6. Any serious or injurious misconduct on the floor or school grounds during a dance will bar that individual or group of individuals from further social gatherings.

Suitable minor adjustments of the above rules to suit occasions and individuals may be made only on responsibility of the dance sponsor and representatives of the commission.

At a meeting of the Grossmont Union High School Student Council, the following school fund drives were suggested:

Cancer Fund

T. B. Seals at Christmas Time

Christmas Giving, sponsored by the Girls League, which is the collection of food and clothing for the poor in our own communities.

Donations for Navajo Indians

Educators of today are striving to make subjects more interesting to the students. One of these methods, adopted at Grossmont Union High School, is the use of records and players.

Their record library has grown to a substantial repertoire. Some of the recordings in the collection are condensations of novels recorded by leading actors; world events presenting people in the news; masterpieces of literature containing famous addresses, charters, allegiances and declarations; many fine works of poetry; ballads and folk music.

Sue Shearer, a student at Grossmont Union High School, won the Good Citizenship Award from the La Mesa chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, having been chosen by girls of the Senior class and the faculty. She will now enter in competition with the other girls in the general San Diego district in a Civics and History test, for the regional prize of a $25.00 savings bond.

Attention, Woodworkers! Here is your chance to construct any type of furniture you wish. A class in woodworking meets every Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Evening High School, and you are welcome to attend! All types of equipment required for working with wood and metal are provided. Mr. Roang teaches this class which repairs and builds cabinets, book cases, patio furniture and anything you wish to construct!

The "Dates Claimed" at the bottom of page 1 is for the benefit of organizations having special events, which they wish to announce. If all will co-operate in listing dates, it will save one date conflicting with another.

Christmas Tree Cutters Register

State Forester DeWitt Nelson, today reminded all Christmas tree operators that State law requires every individual who, for commercial purposes, cuts Christmas trees, decorative greenery, or other forest products on forest lands in California to register with the State Forester, State Office Building No. 1, Sacramento 14. The registration fee is set by law at $1.00 per year.

State law requires every person who cuts or removes Christmas trees of holiday greenery growing upon land not his own to obtain permission from the owner of the land on which the trees or greenery are cut. Nelson cautioned that any person who knowingly sells, offers or exposes for sale, or transports for sale Christmas trees or greenery cut from land owned by another without a signed written permit from the landowner is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"On privately owned lands," the State Forester said, "the cutting of trees must be done in accordance with the forest practice rules for the district, or if on federal or state-owned land under the terms of the sale contract." The local forestry official can supply a copy of the forest practice rules.

Nelson pointed out again this season that forest officers in California will be on the alert for violators of laws governing the cutting of Christmas trees and decorative greenery for commercial and private use.

SHORT STORY

Second Wife

By Richard H. Wilkinson

LIFE began for Lionel Ainsley when he met Cynthia Trumble. She was the fulfillment of dreams that were dreamed while he sat alone by his camp fire in the wilderness, while he listened to the hoots of owls and the screeches of bobcats, and wondered if the time would ever come when somebody sat with him by the fire and listened to the night sounds that had been his only companions since graduation from the state school of forestry two years ago.

He met Cynthia when he came out of the bush one June for a short vacation. They were married the day he was due to start back into the woods.

The first week was deliciously sweet. Cynthia had been a country girl, and because Lionel was her first real love, she eagerly looked forward to spending weeks alone with him in the wilderness. That was before they reached Woodville, where Lionel had his base. There was a big packing company at Woodville, run by a man named Benton, who had a son named Austin. Fresh from college young Austin had come to Woodville to learn the packing business. Quite naturally the place was dull and boring to one so sophisticated.

Then Lionel and his new wife arrived, and Austin looked on Cynthia and vowed to know her better. Austin had that polish about him that attracts women.

So when Lionel finally headed his canoe toward Woodville to replenish their supplies, Cynthia's pulse quickened a little, and she kept her eyes fastened on the bend in the river that would first reveal the great buildings of the packing house.

What followed made Cynthia a little ashamed. She hated to hurt Lionel, he was so fine and generous and kind. And so devoted. She thought he'd object to a divorce, and it was a little disappointing when he agreed readily.

AND SO Lionel went back into the wilderness shortly after the divorce was granted, and Cynthia, free and exultant, waited for Austin to come to her.

He came at last and stood near where she lay in a hammock. It was night and she could not see his face.

"Cynthia, darling, why did you do it? I feel like a cad, breaking up you and Lionel like that. He's a good sort and—well, I meant nothing by my attentions. It was all—well, sort of fun."

"But, darling, you do love me? You do want to marry me?" Missings chilled her heart.

Austin ran a finger under his collar. "Well, you see, Cynthia—you see, I can't, that is—I'm already married!"

Cynthia nearly swooned. When she again opened her eyes Austin was gone. She was alone. Panic gripped her, then fear. Later she thought of Lionel. She'd not known how to appreciate him. She'd wait, he'd be out of the bush again in three weeks. He'd understand.

It was almost unbearable, that waiting. The people of Woodville looked at her curiously and whispered among themselves. Three weeks passed and Lionel didn't return. Another week dragged by and still no sign of him.

Then, at last, Lionel came back. Cynthia, watching from the veranda of her rooming house, saw his canoe sweep into sight, and her heart leaped. Lionel at last! Lionel, whom she'd loved and would love again. Lionel who had loved her so tenderly. Love like his didn't die. She had treated him miserably, but she'd admit all that, ask his forgiveness.

And then the canoe neared the shore and Cynthia went down to meet it. Lionel saw her, and waved a greeting.

Cynthia's heart stopped beating. There was someone else in the canoe. A girl.

The canoe touched the shore. Lionel grinned at her happily. "Cynthia, it's good to see you again. Hope you and Austin are happy."

He gestured toward the girl, who had turned to stare. "Cynthia, meet the new Mrs. Ainsley."

Uncle Charlie's Luck Is Still Bad—Bandit Crosses Him Up

By BILLY ROSE

Last Friday night on the way home from his weekly pinocchio session, my Uncle Charlie was held up a few blocks from his home on Allen Street and a wallet containing $13 was taken from him. This misadventure, strangely enough, has made my Aunt Frieda very happy, and with your leave and license, I'd like to tell you why...

To begin with, to hear my uncle tell it, Frieda is crazy like a fox about most things, but when it comes to fortune telling and allied superstitions she's crazy like a crazy. This, of course, in Charlie's own words, "drives him to destruction," particularly when my aunt shells out good money for such charms and amulets as lucky horse-tail hairs and pieces of string with seven magic knots.

"I can't understand," I once heard him tell her, "how a distinct twenty-century type like you could potsky around with such superstitions."

"Century, schm-century," Frieda answered. "What was good enough by my grandmother is good enough by me."

"So why didn't you marry your grandfather?"

"So when I look at you, that's who I'm thinking I married."

Billy Rose

THE MATTER CAME to a crisis last Friday when Charlie arrived home from the shop and Frieda asked him for 10 dollars.

"Only last week I am giving you 10 dollars," he exploded. "What you making, a down payment on a Cadillac?"

"A catalogue I am not needing," Frieda sassed back. "Today I am purchasing from a certain Gypsy a brass fish with the sign from Zoroaster which is absolute guaranteed to make a party healthy, wealthy and wise, and also rich."

Charlie examined the brass object. "To me it looks like a tin herring," he said. "Where is living this Gypsy?"

"In the back of a store on Suffolk street, and her I am trusting complete," said Frieda.

"Frintence, when Mrs. Peilerson was expecting, the Gypsy told her to sew up the stuffed derma with black thread for a boy and while she used the girl, and when she used the black, you saw what happened—a boy."

"It occasional takes place," said my uncle patiently, "that a boy comes in the world without black thread in the stuffed derma."

The upshot of the argument was a decision to put the magical fish to a practical test, and when Charlie went out that night for his weekly pinocchio session, the good-luck charm was in his wallet. If he lost it, was agreed Frieda would stop patronizing Gypsy establishments; if he made a killing, however, he was to have more faith in her theories.

WELL, AS IT turned out, my uncle won ten dollars which, added to the three he started out with, gave him a take-home total of thirteen. Reluctant to face gloating Frieda, he took a roundabout way home.

A few doors from a drugstore on Rivington Street, a hoodlum stepped out of an alley and stuck him up.

"Could you return, please, the pocketbook?" said Charlie "Is genuine alligator leather."

"Scram," said the hold-up man, "or I'll bust in your head."

"A pleasure," said my uncle politely, "Cherry ha."

When Charlie got home, Frieda was considerably shaken by the story of the stick-up, and was forced to admit that the brass gaw was a flop. But the next morning she gave my uncle the horse laugh when the mailman dropped off a small parcel with the wallet in it, its contents intact. There was also an unsigned note.

"Dear Mister—When I see you got the Fish of Zoroaster, I decide to send everything back because I have dealings with such fibers before and don't want no part of them. Besides, when I count up the money I find 13 dollars exactly. I know when I'm licked."

"See?" said my aunt. "On account of the brass fish, everything is turning out bunkytotsy."

"Maybe," said my uncle, "but he me it still smells from herring."

Lemon Grove School News

Schools throughout the Lemon Grove District will be closed on Thursday, Nov. 23, and Friday, Nov. 24, for the Thanksgiving vacation. Classes will resume on Monday, Nov. 27.

John van Gilse will be host to the following members of the School Safety Patrol at his Grove Theater on Saturday: Travis Keeton, Ronald Netzel, Roy Rottini, Richard Henderson, Robert Sweet, Gary Cox, Charles Beistline, Robert Luna, Michael Sauder, and Bobby Smith.

Willard Rigley was elected president of the Student Council for the Lemon Grove Elementary School on Wednesday of last week.

Others chosen were Joyce Bagrie, vice-president; Karen van Gilse, secretary; and Linda Walters, treasurer.

With the approval of the cafeteria staff, a drive to improve conditions in the lunchroom will begin in December. The students hope that with new student-made regulations, all boys and girls will make an effort to improve behavior and table manners. At the end of the month, a party will be held for the best table in each class. Mr. Grossman is faculty sponsor of the council.

Pupils in Mrs. Jensen's third grade, visited the Van Camp Canning Company last Wednesday. They were privileged to follow the canning process from the time the tuna was unloaded from the clipper until the cases of canned fish were loaded on trucks and freight cars, bound for distant markets. The school bus took the group to the harbor water front, where they saw the many ships and boats about which they had studied in class during a harbor project. Sponsors for the journey included Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Lizama, Mrs. Sommers, Mrs. Durlin, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Porter, and Mrs. Schmidt.

Junior High Gives Thanksgiving Program

The 7-1 class, students of Mrs. M. L. Darroch's homeroom, presented a Thanksgiving program for all the classes of the Junior High on the outdoor stage in the middle section patio on Wednesday of last week. This is the first in a series of assembly programs to be staged during the school year by the seventh and eighth grade groups.

Shirley Quist announced the program, which included an original three-act play, "Be Thankful You Live in America," written by Shirley. The list of characters in the play included Peggy Lester, Bobby Hensley, Karen Dawson, John Pfister, Bonnie Ruzich, Sonja Friederichsen, Margaret Finch, Arvis Reed and Allen Newton. The meaning of Thanksgiving to children in the United States was narrated, and how our way of life can be explained to children all over the world was discussed during the production.

The program also included a trumpet solo, "Till Always Love You" by Ronnie Svalstad; song, "Winter Wonderland," Shirley Quist; saxophone solo, "The Waltz You Saved for Me," Bobby Hensley; reading, "Thanksgiving Fable," Karen Dawson; poem, "A Boy's Thanksgiving," Jamie Balch; poem, "Thanksgiving Day," Lavonne Vestal; "Thanksgiving Song," Gail Stringer, Sonja Friederichsen, Peggy Lester, Shirley Quist, and Karen Dawson; tap dance, Gail Stringer; solo, "My Foolish Heart," by Janice Jewett. In closing the program Shirley Quist read "A Family Prayer" by the beloved author, Robert Louis Stevenson. Kathy Lou Pendergrass, of the 8-3 class, accompanied the musical numbers on the piano.

In Mrs. Snell's second grade class, the boys and girls have begun the study of bread, "the staff of life." They have read about bakeries, showing the things necessary for bread production. Two good films on bread making were enjoyed during this past week. Now they shall complete their booklets, "The Story of Bread."

Mrs. Cornelius' fourth and fifth grade classes are "reading their Way" to California. Tiny covered wagon, bearing students' names, will travel from points on the East Coast to the West Coast on a large wall map. Each half-inch will represent one book read and a written report made. Owen Beckham has been appointed chairman to map the trails to California.

The kindergarten teachers were hostesses on Tuesday, at a meeting of all kindergarten teachers of the Lemon Grove School District. One of the important topics discussed was the various methods of communicating child growth to parents.

All kindergarten children have been interested this week in the stories and pictures of early Thanksgiving days in America. The children made pretty turkeys to decorate the classrooms and to take home to their parents. Songs and games about the holiday were enjoyed by all the children.

Jacob Lateiner is Soloist at Opening of Philharmonic of Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Leslie Hodges at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday in Russ auditorium, will be the 22-year-old pianist, Jacob Lateiner, who will make his West Coast debut in the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto No. 1 in B-flat minor.

Lateiner is called an "artists' artist." Born in Cuba of Polish parents, Lateiner studied at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia under Mme. Isabella Vengerova. At Curtis he was heard by the great cellist Gregor Piatigorsky, who was so impressed by the talents of the youngster that he persuaded Serge Koussevitsky to feature the then 18-year-old pianist with the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood.

Another soloist got him a solo engagement with the Kansas City Symphony, then under Erem Kurtz. In addition, Lateiner won the Philadelphia Orchestra's Youth Competition, which carried with it the privilege of appearing as soloist with that orchestra under Eugene Ormandy.

Everywhere musicians so effectively carried word of this young man's prodigious talent that when he made his Carnegie Hall debut less than a year ago, that auditorium was packed.

its own symphony music; that the entire population will benefit by a better understanding and a real desire for a higher class of entertainment, and last, but not least, that San Diego and vicinity is able to support such an undertaking, wholeheartedly and financially.

Has it been said that should you be interested in seeing just how the wheels go round, you are welcome to attend the rehearsals? Have you been told that your musically inclined children, who have ambitions to make music their career, may sit in with the orchestra at the rehearsals and virtually grow up with it? Do you realize that if your children choose a music career, they will not have to leave home to attain the highest position any music master can offer them?

The very existence of a Philharmonic Orchestra in a community means the availability of the best teachers in any line of music.

Is it not worth our full support, both morally and financially? Surely there is no art more beneficial to a people than good, wholesome music. Long live the San Diego Philharmonic Orchestra!

Another Newsy Letter from Down Under

Sidney, Australia
November 15, 1950
Dear friends: I arrived in Melbourne on November 4, after an 11-day visit to Tasmania. Here I was entertained by John Watkins, an official of Trans Australia Airlines. We celebrated Guy Fawkes Day Sunday evening with a bonfire and fireworks.

As the Railway strike was still on, the next morning I started out the road to Adelaide, the capital of Southern Australia, 500 miles to the west. I caught five rides and arrived in Adelaide at 11 p. m. the same day.

Adelaide is a beautiful city about the same size as San Diego. I spent the next day visiting the museum, the Mines department and the Geology department of the University. They treated me royally and I obtained one or two rare mineral specimens.

The next morning, November 8, I again hit the road and caught a ride on a lumber truck. It took 1 1/2 days to reach Broken Hill, the great mining camp in New South Wales.

This is one of the greatest mines in the world, producing lead, zinc, copper silver gold and other minerals. They have sufficient ore in sight for another 100 years.

The superintendent of the zinc corporation put me in charge of a shift boss. We spent two hours 200 feet under ground and 1300 feet below sea level. They presented me with many ore samples.

Late on November 10, I was taken 125 miles north by one of the big sheep owners, to Wilcama. Here I had the pleasure of visiting several of the sheep stations (sheep ranches to you).

Each of these stations have from 60,000 to 2,000,000 acres of land. So houses are far apart. The country abounds in kangaroos and giant emu, or ostrich like birds.

Out of Wilcama I traveled altogether about 400 miles by bean truck. One trip was to White Cliffs, the old opal fields, now deserted except for three old prospectors, who spent their time working over the dumps. At one time 3000 miners worked the White Cliff diggings. This was the hardest part of my trip.

I arrived in Sidney today. Had not taken my clothes off for two days and two nights.

Australia is a wonderful country with room for more people. With an area equal to that of the U. S. it has only 8 1/2 millions.

I should not forget to say I have seen more rabbits in Australia than I have seen in all my life before. Sincerely, Harold W. B. Baker.

St. John of the Cross School News

The Parents Guild met last Thursday evening with a large attendance as a result of the membership drive. 115 parents are now members of the Guild. Special treats go to the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 8th grades for obtaining the most members.

The Christmas meeting of the Guild will be on December 2.

In co-operation with Book Week the 3rd grade gave a clever skit "Banish the Books."

Mrs. Leonard Freed, teacher of the 4th grade is ill at her home.

'Red Sympathizer' Now 'No. 1 Marine'

Because lack of energy and sleepless nights had considerably decreased his daily production, fellow workers jestingly called their aircraft co-worker a "Red Sympathizer."

"But it was far from a joke to me," he said. "My continuous tired feeling, poor appetite and constant susceptibility to colds, greatly jeopardized my job. Then my friend, a pharmacist, told me how many doctors recommend the remarkable N.R.G. (Energy) brand vitamins."

"Now the boys call me" the "One Man Marine Division." No more "Red Sympathizer" kidding for me. And the best part of all, N.R.G. brand vitamins are so economical—cost less per day than the price of a package of cigarettes."

If you, too, suffer from that "all gone" feeling, poor appetite and sleepless nights, visit friendly Hailip's Pharmacy, 7801 Broadway, Lemon Grove. Get on a regular schedule of resistance-building N.R.G. (Energy) brand, the remarkably potent vitamins, that help you keep fit, and at a "cost less per day, than the price of a package of cigarettes."—Adv.

Miller-Hickey Nuptials in Local Church

Miss Therese Ann Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Hickey, 7853 Nichols St., became the bride of Mr. Paul Andrew Miller, son of Mrs. Andrew Miller, of San Diego, Saturday morning in St. John of the Cross Church. The Rev. John W. McDonagh read the rites and Miss Leota Saville was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown with off-the-shoulder neckline. Her veil of illusion was fastened to a beaded cap and she carried a bouquet of white orchids with center of a lavender orchid corsage.

Her sister, Mrs. Mary Hodges, as matron of honor wore a gown of light green made similar to the bride's. She carried a nosegay of pink gladioli.

The bridesmaids, Miss Caroline Hickey and Miss Susan Lauritzen wore frocks of yellow and rose taffeta, respectively. The carried pastel carnations and white sweet peas.

Wesley Holmberg served as best man and others were the bride's brother, Frank Hickey, and Lauriel Holmberg.

The bride's mother wore a beige dressmaker suit, with burnt orange hat and other accessories in black.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a deep blue dress with black accessories.

A reception was held for 75 guests in the school auditorium, where Mrs. Marcela Welch and the bridesmaids served. Miss Alicia Quintero had charge of the guest book.

Both bride and bridegroom attended San Diego Junior College where she was affiliated with Phi Sigma Tau and he with Sigma Tau Rho.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Laguna and up the Coast, the newlyweds will be at home in San Diego where Mr. Miller has a television store.

SHORT STORY

New Neighbors

By Richard H. Wilkinson

THE Whitney's living room faced on a court. Across the court were the windows of another apartment. Occasionally Paul Whitney, relaxed on his couch, could see people moving around there. After a day or two he decided that the occupants were a young, childless couple who spent a good deal of time at home.

3-Minute Fiction

get to know them," Paul confided to his wife.

Mrs. Whitney sighed. "I would, too. We've been here a month now and haven't met a soul. Do you suppose I ought to go over and call?"

Paul shook his head doubtfully. "I wouldn't—not without some good excuse. You know how apartment dwellers are. They might think we were imposing." He glanced across the court. "They have a much better apartment than ours."

"Better?"

"Why, it's obviously their living room we can look into and, if you'll notice, there are windows on both sides."

Mrs. Whitney followed her husband's gaze. Without effort she could look into their neighbors' living room and see the window on the wall opposite.

"That's so," she admitted.

Mrs. Whitney went into the kitchen and Paul rose and strolled idly toward the window of his own living room. On the chance of being observed, he pretended to examine a potted plant on the sill.

Surprisingly he glanced across the court, and was shocked to see the head and shoulders of a man framed in the window on the far side of their neighbors' living room.

He called his wife and, standing well back so as not to be observed, they peered across the court. But the figure in the window on the far side vanished.

"You're positive you saw someone?" Mrs. Whitney asked.

"Positive!" Paul affirmed. "Ought we to notify the police?"

"I wouldn't. Whoever it is is gone, and perhaps the police wouldn't believe us. We'd appear ridiculous."

TWO evenings later Paul again saw the peeping Tom. He was standing in the same position, and sight of the man at the window of their neighbor's apartment gave him the same unexpected shock.

"I'm going to do something about it. Sooner or later the chap will conjure enough courage to break his way in," Paul said.

"Let's go over there and warn the people, tell them what we saw and then let them do as they like about it," she hesitated. "Perhaps we can strike up an acquaintance."

THEY CROSSED to the neighborly apartment and knocked. A pleasant-faced woman opened the door.

"Are you Mrs. Phelps?" Mrs. Whitney asked. The woman nodded and Mrs. Whitney said: "We're Mr. and Mrs. Whitney from across the court."

"Come right in! Frank and I were thinking of calling on you." The Whitneys entered and were greeted cordially by Mrs. Phelps. "I'm afraid," said Paul, "that we came on rather an unpleasant mission." And he explained what they had seen.

Mr. Phelps looked puzzled. "There's something wrong here. Would you mind stepping into the living room?" They followed him in and he pointed toward the far wall. "You see we have no windows on that wall."

He broke off as Mrs. Whitney gasped. "Why, it wasn't a window at all! It was that mirror! You see, it hangs where a window might be, and faces our apartment. Paul Whitney, it was your own reflection you saw! Standing near the flower pot, you saw yourself in the mirror, and it appeared that some one else was peering in at the Phelps!"

Cast Iron Once Precious
Iron was considered a precious metal by the ancient Egyptians. As early as 332 B.C. iron was being cast into various forms used for making swords, armor and ornaments, and other evidences of iron date back as far as 8,000 years ago. Only in recent years was it discovered that the addition of nickel produced a cast iron which was definitely stronger, tougher more uniform in texture and more resistant to wear and rust than ordinary cast iron. Today many thousand pounds of Canadian nickel are used for this purpose.

When you can't sleep—feel just awful because you need a laxative—do as millions do—chew FEEN-A-MINT. FEEN-A-MINT is wonderfully different! Doctors say many other laxatives start their "drugging" action too soon—right in the stomach. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy...you feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that weak, tired feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel fine, full of life! 25c, 50c, or only 10¢.

Lemon Grove Still Leads in Building

Permits for 100 houses in Brookside, the new subdivision that formerly was the La Mesa Country Club golf course, boosted new construction in the Lemon Grove area last month to more than a million dollars.

Lemon Grove, a regular leader in building among the unincorporated districts, not only topped all other areas in October, but the permit volume of $1,038,050 accounted for almost a third of all construction authorized by the San Diego County Building Inspection Division, which last month totaled $3,365,096.

Altogether, permits were issued for 138 single-family dwellings, valued at $908,776, in the Lemon Grove vicinity. The permits for the 100 Brookside houses were issued in one group. In addition, there were 78 permits for alterations, additions and electrical installations, $33,077; 23 private garages, $9,296; 33 barns, storage and miscellaneous buildings, $9,386, and six commercial or public buildings, $77,515.

Although starting only about half the volume recorded in Lemon Grove, the South Bay area ranked second in the county building parade in October, with three commercial structures giving this district a $297,498 boost.

YOUNG TREES NEED PROTECTION

Experience during the past several years has proven that it is just good business to give young citrus and avocado trees some frost protection. The majority of sites are, at best, only relatively frost-free. Young trees are more susceptible to frost injury because they are more tender, and because they're in the coldest air which is close to the ground.

One method suggested by Farm Advisor Joe Coony is a snug wrapping with newspaper or similar material. The idea is to insulate, not just to cover. Several thicknesses of newspaper would be required. Whatever material is used should be thick enough and snug enough, and protect as much of the trunk of the young trees as possible.

For avocado trees, mounding with dirt to a point well above the bud union is sometimes employed. In case the top is frozen, a new shoot will grow and the tree is not lost. Whatever steps are taken, the protection should remain until the danger is over, towards the end of February.

A WARNING ABOUT ELECTRIC WIRES

Winter storms often leave innocent-looking wires dangling behind them. Don't touch them, warns Home Advisor Delphine D. Wilson. If you see a fallen wire, call the electric company immediately and let them handle it. Electricity under control is a good servant. Electricity out of control, such as in a dangling wire broken by a falling tree branch, is dangerous.

The National Safety Council warns to think of yourself first if you find a person in contact with a live wire. You may want to rush to help him, but you, too, may be shocked or burned or killed. Electric energy seeks a path to the ground. If you stand on the ground and touch either the wire, or someone touching the wire, you will become the conductor for the current.

Safety is a matter of habit, Mrs. Wilson says. Remember that only one careless moment may cost you your life—so think before you act.

GONE HAYWIRE

Eleven thousand tuberculosis cases waiting admission to hospitals—with "only the life-and-death cases standing much chance of getting into a hospital at once."

A city, Newcastle, with more sick people on the waiting list than it has hospital beds—29,774 waiting patients, 26,000 beds, mostly occupied.

Those are but two instances reported this week by the Chicago Tribune press service on a Nation-wide survey of the hospital service situation in England after two years of socialized medicine.

The survey reveals that in Glasgow hospital patients must wait a full month before they can even see a specialist, unless the case is of an emergency nature; that in Southwest England 15,000 people are waiting for operations—some of them waiting over the entire last year.

The dreary pattern holds for all of England, with the Manchester Regional Hospital situation, where 44,488 are awaiting admission for treatment, perhaps the most dismal. "We can't even promise to do any tonsil operations before another six months," a surgeon told the interviewer, and added: "The whole system has gone haywire."

The English are a patient and stoic people, long accustomed to privation visited upon them by war and now by socialist mismanagement. Also they are an intelligent and independent people; and it seems certain that the tragic failure of State medicine will speed the final, inevitable explosion of public opinion against the whole broad program of socialist regimentation that has been fastened upon them. For socialized medicine is but one evil among the many they are now enduring. The entire concept of England's floundering, insolvent, welfare state is proving out to be haywire.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

It isn't often that the action of a single State on a ballot issue strikes home nationwide.

Usually, a local issue, say in Iowa, may create a storm of feeling there, but be wholly uninteresting, if not wholly unknown, to the people of California, or vice versa.

Absolutely unique in this light, is Proposition 10, enacted into law by California at the recent election.

Proposition 10 represents a major counterattack on the part of free enterprise against the smothering encroachment of bureaucracy. As such, it cannot help but point the way to other areas of the country long weary of bureaucratic and political excesses, but always on the defensive.

By giving the people the right to decide whether or not they need or can afford socialized housing, Proposition 10 in effect is a routing out of bureaucracy already established in California. For the housing bureaucracy was and is established and firmly entrenched. Its burning desire was and is to extend its power and influence by building more and more public, or socialized housing.

Under Proposition 10, the bureaucrats' power in California properly has been curbed . . . they have been made subservient to the electorate.

Already the importance that can be attached to passage of Proposition 10 has been felt and commented on outside California's borders. Editorializing, the Chicago Tribune makes the point: "When Californians got around to counting votes on the numerous Propositions which their initiative and referendum system produces at every election, it was discovered that Golden State, too, is against Public Housing. Initiative number 10," the Tribune explained to Chicagoans, "required that before publicly financed low-rent housing can be constructed in any community, it must be approved by a referendum."

The Tribune continued: "Both Governor Warren and Jimmy Roosevelt, rivals for Governor, opposed the proposal, but the voters were for it. They evidently realize that the 'free' federal money offered for public housing is a fraud. Not only does it come from their income taxes, but its expenditure puts further local tax burdens on them to support the public housing tenants."

Concluding his observations the Tribune stated: "Chicago voters should be given a chance to express themselves on the racket. Voters should sign the petitions for the referendum on the subject at the spring Municipal Elections."

California, a notably liberal State, obviously has demonstrated that its liberalism is not pie-in-the-sky. The State's voters have indicated to the Nation that an ambitious bureaucracy can be stopped and made accountable to the people. In so doing, observers conclude, California has shown the Nation also that free enterprise can take the initiative against bureaucracy and its sympathizers and win.

Sparks

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

Californians have become so accustomed to the use of the legislation-by-Initiative route by promoters of questionable schemes that for many people an automatic "no" vote on Propositions has become habitual.

The resounding defeat of both Proposition 1 (the personal property tax repealer) and Proposition 6 (the gambling scheme) reflected the voters' impatience with crackpot, unsound promotions.

At the same time, it is encouraging to find that the original intent and promise of the Initiative procedure haven't been completely by-passed. The election demonstrated that constructive, needed legislation will be correctly analyzed and approved by the people.

The passage of Proposition 2 is a notable example. With little campaign fanfare, the voters overwhelmingly approved the measure to prohibit the naming of persons to State office via Constitutional amendment. That action will eliminate a recent abuse of the Initiative first exploited by George McLain in 1948 and attempted again this year by the promoters of the ill-fated Proposition 6.

Enactment of Proposition 3, too, was a vote for constructive, needed legislation, for it provided a sound reconstitution of the so-called Inferior Courts.

Approved by a much closer vote, the adoption of Proposition 10, to establish local option proposed public housing projects, is profoundly significant. Its success is a heartening development for everyone who recognizes the importance of local responsibility, and conversely, a blow to the planned government advocates who are so fond of arguing that the clock that has been ticking its way toward Socialism can't be turned back.

The major mystery in the hard-fought campaign over Proposition 10—and the reason for the closeness of the vote—was the attitude of Governor Warren. An adverse statement voiced by the Governor at the beginning of the campaign—and never repudiated—was pounced on by the housing bureaucrats fighting Proposition 10 as an endorsement of their argument that the people should not be allowed the right of local decision on public housing.

Some interpreted the Governor's stand as merely a shrewd political move to woo labor votes at the expense of his Union-endorsed opponent, Jimmy Roosevelt. Others found the stand consistent with previously expressed views on issues involving similar basic principles, such as state medicine and public power. In any event, although the voters expressed their preference for Warren over Roosevelt in no uncertain terms, the majority did not heed his advice on the issue of local responsibility versus bureaucratic dictation in the field of public housing. The victory of Proposition 10 was a victory for grass-roots democracy. It was also a vindication of the Initiative system of direct legislation.

Dr. Lester E. Reukema, Berkeley, U. C. professor—"The atomic bomb has made it forever impossible for any Nation to win a major war."

Rev. Curtis Beach, Pasadena—"We have learned that science tells how the universe came to be and how it operates—while religion tells us why."

Dr. Frederic Ewens, Manhattan Beach, pres. Cal. Academy of General Practitioners—"The federal government is spending millions of the taxpayers' money trying to make the public dissatisfied with medical care in our country."

Henry J. Taylor, radio commentator, before S. F. Commonwealth Club—"There is nothing wrong with America that more wisdom in government won't cure—use of fewer dollars and more brains."
